

Commissioner Whitcomb Speaks at FCSWCD Meeting

Commissioner Walter Whitcomb from the Department of Agriculture spoke the audience at the 63rd annual meeting of the Franklin County Soil & Water Conservation District. The annual meeting was held Friday, April 15, 2011 at the Mt Blue Middle School in Farmington.

The Commissioner stated that the current budget for the Department of Agriculture is being supported by the current administration. He further stated that he strongly supports what the Soil & Water Conservation Districts do and will work to keep funding from being cut.

The Department of Agriculture is looking at adding staff in another year or two to fill some of the many vacancies. The Department is working with individuals and farmers to ensure the right to farm laws are upheld and that all peoples right and concerns are addressed.
